Higomore in India

Blake Fastroot, The Higomore-Harold Junior of Meetings team competed at the National FFA Convention in Indianapolis, Indiana, October 25, where they were awarded the third place in the Senior Conduct of Meetings, which is a competitive event for FFA teams. The team consisted of, from the left: Dylan McDonnell, Emily Remiller, Blake Fastroot, Layney Aasby, Velvet Jessen, Chasney Elling, Veronica Klingiel and Sylvia Rodriguez. “Even though I was not the best at the individual events, I proceeded to make it through all the exremities and conduct a meeting utilizing proper parliamentary procedures. Team for this contest are awarded for the overall best meeting, which my team competing against members of their own age. There are seven different positions which are president, vice president, advisor, sentinel, treasurer, and secretary. Everyone but the president has to do a topic and use motions assigned to them during the meeting. The president is scored on how well they debate others are if they use their motions properly according to Robert’s Rule of Order. In addition, they have to do a 25 question test regarding the motions, the proper way of running a meeting, and the duties of officers.”

Tree Eating Dinner, Talking Having Fun

Elora Domke: “One year some people that were helping my brother. They were from China, they came over and cooked some Chinese food we also had some American food as well. It was cool to have some authentic food.”

Velvet Jessen: “When I was seven my cousins helped me with Thanksgiving. They would help me with dinner and had some amazing.”

Black Friday in rural America

Oakley Jandrasic

Black Friday affects many businesses in larger cities. It also influences smaller businesses in towns like Highmore. Many farmers also depend on the holiday. Explores. Highmore does not have many businesses that are open on Black Friday, yet it does have small businesses that are looking to grow.

Elora Domke: “When I was seven my cousins helped me with Thanksgiving. They would help me with dinner and had some amazing.”
